PERSONAL NARRATIVE

Tips for Writing a Good Beginning

- A good beginning is the key to an effective personal narrative. It grabs your reader's attention and makes them want to read more.
- There are many ways to write a good beginning. Some beginnings:
 - o Shock or surprise
 - o Pose a question, problem, or mystery
 - o Throw the reader right into the center of the action
 - o Use dialogue to pose a question, show emotions, surprise, or shock
